

Celebrations

---

The days
are shorter
and life is different
with COVID-19.

There is still hope when we look for the light.

Diwali celebrations may be different this year, but we still honor the light within each of us.

Hanukkah celebrations may look different this year, but we can still honor our traditions when we light the menorah.

We celebrate the shortest day of the year and a change of season. We may not be with all the people we love but we enjoy the gift of light the sun brings us.

Celebrating
Christmas may look different this year. We can still find magic in the lights we see on houses or the lights on our Christmas tree.

Celebrating
Kwanzaa may look different
this year, but we can still find joy
in the Mishumaa
Saba.

Happy Kwanzaa

Celebrating Three Kings Day may look different this year, but we can still enjoy our traditions and think of those we love.

We may be sad that things are not the same. This year we will find new ways to celebrate. We want to be safe.
